Fruit grown in five regions of China, graded by machine, shipped cold.

Premium fruit for importers and retail brands, from one family-owned fruit group. Fresh fruit since 1987.

WHO WE ARE

One fruit family, from orchard to container.

Cunjindi is a family-owned fruit group based in Pujiang, Chengdu. Our five growing regions are on land owned by the group and run through our family companies, so growing, packing and export sit in one chain.

We pack and supply premium fruit to importers and retail brands, under the buyer's own label or under Cunjindi. Prices are quoted per order; samples and specifications come first.

One card per line.

Each fruit has a one-page variety card with the full specification: pack, container load, cold chain, HS code, terms and documents. Reference values only; stock and final packing are confirmed per order.

SMART GRADING AND COLD CHAIN

Graded on the machine, held at the right set point.

Fruit runs over intelligent optical grading lines in our packhouse, then moves into packing and cold storage. Cartons carry packer, variety, origin, class, size or count and net weight.

Optical grading. Each fruit is carried on its own cup past the machine, so grade follows measurement.

Packhouse and storage. Two large warehouses: 70,000 m² in Sichuan and 50,000 m² in Xinjiang (group figures).

Cold chain. More than 200 owned refrigerated vehicles. Citrus is planned at a 6 °C set point, prunes at 0 °C, 90–95% humidity.

Pack plan. 400 × 300 mm export cartons and 300 × 200 mm gift boxes on 1,200 × 1,000 mm pallets.
